

Oracle cards guide book

I. INTRODUCTION

“Stellar” invites you for a travel deep into your soul, to reconnect your inner self with the Universe.

This deck was created while listening to Space and planets themed sounds/music such as the “Earth Song” or drone music. The scent of specific incense sticks (received in spiritual places) had also an important part in its creation, as it helped me to focus my mind on the project.

On each card there is a short message written, which is a condensed version of the main message. In this guide book you’ll find more complex explanations, and possibly more details might be sent to you while you are doing your own readings, the stars will send you even more messages, step by step.

The oracle cards will not give you a “yes” or “no” to your questions, they are made to help you with the answers you receive from them, providing guidance whenever you feel that you need it. This is a tool for a real introspection, with “Stellar” you will receive answers, advices, warnings, etc and it will invite to dig deep in your soul.

Don’t hesitate to take some notes when you start your first readings and see which subjects the cards inspire you with, which memories surface or which message comes to your mind.

II. PREFACE

The creation of something unique takes a boundless imagination that stretches far into the distance and an everlasting passion for creation. Each one of us wishes at one point to break away from the monotonous way in which we live, often staring at the stars in wonder to what lies in the vastness of space.

Stellar gives you that choice to explore the unknown and break away from the bubble of our universe. To explore distant stars and galaxies and experience things that you may never have thought possible, all in the essence of finding yourself and your motivations...

See through the eyes of impossible imagination and reach places you thought you'd ever reach.

Everything you find in here is another possibility, another discovery just waiting to happen and every brushstroke you see brings you closer to your true self.

We are never limited by our imagination, and only our emotions can hold us back from something precious and important. Let Stellar guide you through this chaotic life and follow the direction in which your soul has planned for you...embrace the stars, the galaxies and enter the unknown with clear focus.

This is your new beginning.

By Kelly J. Moss

III. HOW TO USE

How to use the “Stellar” deck?

The deck contains 44 oracle cards and 5 energy cards to use together or separately. Using these cards as much as possible will allow them to absorb your energy and give you more precise answers.

You can use a cloth to cover the table, neutral color or with any pattern you like. Don't hesitate to create your own ritual for the card readings: burning incense, add stones/gems on your table, put a background music, etc.

Step 1

Clean your cards of the energies they have absorbed during the printing process. The method is different for everybody (with crystals, moonlight, sunlight, starry night, sage, etc.)

If you do a reading for another person, then you must clean the energies again before and after. You can also clean them when you feel that their energy is too strong or negative for you.

Step 2

(first use of this deck)

Give your own energy to the cards. Touch them one by one and visualise all the images. Find a quiet environment to do this.

Step 3

Now that you are ready, think about your question. Be accurate to get clearer answers. You can simply ask for daily guidance; or a more precise question such as “What can I do to improve this situation? ”, “How can I improve this... “, “what will happen if I do this...?”, etc... (mention the situation or subject in your question)

Step 4

Shuffle the cards and keep thinking about your question. Focus only on this or you may receive random answers. Shuffle as long as you need it. There is no time imposed to do this. When the cards are ready, you will know when to stop shuffling (f.e. different feeling, a shiver, a sign, etc)..

Step 5

You can decide to cut the cards or not, it's not mandatory for this deck. Follow your intuition and let the stars guiding you.

Step 6

Place the cards on a flat surface. Place your deck with the front images down, slide the cards from left to right (long row or fan-shaped)

Step 7

Now draw a card of your choice. If you are attracted to more than one card, draw one again, and then again, etc. Let your intuition guide you.

Too many cards spread out might confuse your answers, a few are enough for a reading.

Now discover the card you've drawn, look first at the image, what does it inspire in you?

Then read the message.

If you want to get more details about one of the cards, you can draw another one to link with the one concerned and see if you can get a better comprehension.

There is no reverse card reading in this deck, but if a card pops up from the deck or is falling reversed then it may be trying to catch your attention on an important matter or energy.

Step 8

When your reading is finished, store the cards in a dry place. You can place the deck in a box or pouch to protect it from damages and from external energies.

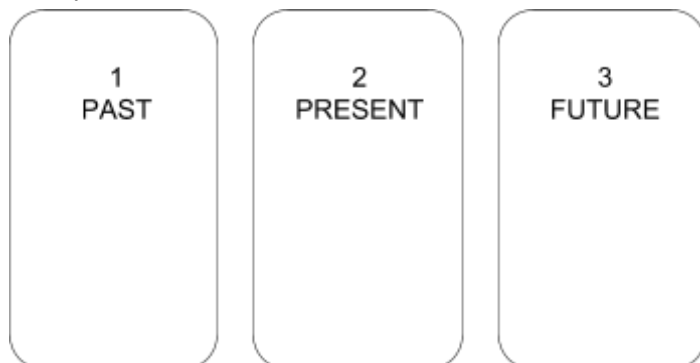

Cards spreads:

There is no right or wrong way to spread cards. Follow your intuition, you can even build your own layout.

Here are some examples to start with the Stellar deck:

- Daily card: You can draw one card to get a single message. For example asking a general advice for the day.
- 3 cards: Past - Present – Future. Left is the past, middle the present and right the future. Draw each card one by one and place them in that exact order.
- The road: take as many cards as you need, see if they are all telling a story all together or if they point in different directions.
- 5 cards (cross shaped), etc.

Example:

Energy cards:

- The energy cards can be mixed with the rest of the deck, shuffled and drawn at the same time than other cards. When at least one appears in the reading, then it points to the energies you have to focus on.
- The second method is to use them apart and draw one of your choice to focus the energies of the usual reading.
- You can also let these cards on the side if you don't need them during your reading.

1. STARS CREATION

At the beginning there was the void. A dark place without light and without life, just nothingness. It was needed to create something in the vast darkness, to bring light step by step.

Beautiful souls arrived and created the stars and enlightened the dismal sky with millions of bright jewels. Every time one of these souls brings new creations, the world become more and more magnificent.

You have the power to create wonders on Earth, to be one of these souls who bring the light in our darkest nights. Any creation that is made with pure intentions and positive energy is important for our world.

Creativity is your weapon to defeat the darkness.

Creativity can be expressed in so many fields: painting, singing, writing, sculpting, dancing, composing music, acting, and so much more. Your imagination is your only limit!

Sometimes you lack inspiration ? Worry not, it's normal. You can't be a factory of creativity and you don't have to be. Observe, think outside the box, discuss, listen and take the time to think or dream about new projects. Everything in this world can lead to new ideas or new vibes. Take all the notes you need to give them a more concrete shape in your mind.

It is important to avoid negative emotions, as they will bring low vibes on our planet and only brings the void back. Create what makes you feel happy. The emotion insuflated in your creation will be transmitted to other souls.

Be strong and keep being the light bringer.

2. SPACE EXPLORATION

What do you see in the horizon? Look very carefully... A new world, a new adventure, new projects? It's time to reach a new star!

Get out of this bubble. It's comfortable inside, but nothing happens in here. Pass through this one and dive into a new universe. You will only be able to discover new galaxies while you're dreaming at night. There, outside, this is where everything starts and where all re-starts.

Leave your fears behind, you don't need them to reach these new stars.

Let them guide you instead.

The "Space Exploration" represents a new start. From now on all will begin and you'll choose to take control of your life, and to set new destinations.

This new start will be different for everybody and there are many possibilities. One is more important for you than for others. One which calls you from afar and only waits for you.

It can be physical or psychical.

A new travel, relationship, work, house, project, inner change, etc. Which one is more appealing you? Which one do you need?

Think about it as if you're setting your new goals for the New Year, the good resolutions for this coming year. What did you leave behind in the previous years and that you finally want to see come true?

A hesitation? Maybe the fear to start something new, the fear of failure, regrets? Too many ideas? Not sure what to start with? Ask yourself why you can't decide.

Write on a paper all ideas that come to your mind. What these changes "could" bring you in positive and negative ways?

"Could" because you can't be sure 100% that it will be good or bad. The future is always uncertain, and will stay in an inert state if you are just waiting. Each step you will do will bring something new, something different and the evolution of your trip will depend on your decisions. This new exploration will maybe not bring you to your final destination, but one trip leads to another as long as you want to travel.

Just weigh the pros and cons, evaluate each and see if some are not simply excuses to postpone the launch.

As we say, it is better to try than live with the regret of never having tried...

Keep in mind that none are asking you to jump right now. This is the moment to set new goals, to prepare them and only go for it when you are ready.

3. STARGAZER

Land here for a moment and lift your eyes to the sky to contemplate this bright infinity. These jewels, such gleaming diamonds, brighten your dark nights and guide your way full of light.

They tell you tales from the distant past.

What do these stars tell you? Listen to them and observe them well...

Appreciate this moment and simply admire the vastness sparkling across the World. If you're lost then just return and behold this luminous veil as it will guide you on the right path.

Forget the resentment from the past, annihilate your fears of the future and think only about the moment you are in now. Take the time to appreciate what is here with you in the present.

Often we think that we don't have any luck because we don't own this or that, or we can't do what others do... and you envy them, but in the end, you only compare your life to others.

Are you sure that you want the exact same life as everyone else? Are you sure they're happy with their own life and that they don't also envy you?

You probably have more chance than you think and own more than you even need. Look around you and look at all these bright stars that you are used to seeing but don't « see » anymore. They've become all too common to your eyes.

The beloved ones, humans or animals, these precious stars bring you something that some maybe don't have. Love, passion, friendship, happiness, sharing, cheerfulness, laughter and much more. Remember which ones fill your heart with so many different feelings.

And if it's not about living beings but material possession, are you happy with all of them? All these objects you've gathered over the years are still bringing you joy? Do you still see them even now?

If all has a positive effect on you, then fine...

But if you are wondering now why you still have them, just take a moment to turn around and look at everything. Some are perhaps even bringing you bad memories or negative energies, so maybe it's about time to clean up and open the space for what really matters.

Do you even need more ? No need to fill the empty spaces in the sky if they are there then it's for a reason and more stars will come into your life step by step.

If you feel emptiness then search the reason elsewhere, and ask why do you completely fill a void when it's not even empty?

Don't forget that the most important stars in your life will not be the material ones. Objects can be replaced, but the most illuminating stars are on another plane.

4. INTERSTELLAR TRAVEL

A different travel is waiting for you, spiritual or physical, or even both and the ship is ready to carry you across new galaxies. Dive through these unknown nebulae. Now that you possess the bark's oars, guide your vessel to a new destination.

Navigate in this Universe, it is unknown yes, but dazzling. The constellations will point you towards to this new and wonderful path.

Are you ready for this stellar travel? Yes? Then it's time to go !

If it's physical, new adventures are waiting for you. If it's psychical, new emotions will be born.

In both cases, you will come out grown up, more serene and in connection with your soul.

The new start card « Space Exploration » is asking you to get ready for a new adventure and the « Interstellar Travel » is telling you that you are ready. It's time to move forward towards something new and different.

Cross the galaxies until the moment you feel that this stellar travel has been achieved. There is no time limit for it, so venture amongst the stars as long as you need. No matter if it takes light years or a nanosecond.

Don't worry if some planets' gravity slows you down, because they might have something important to show or teach you. Later you will be propelled so fast through other worlds that the infinite will seem smaller than you thought.

The Interstellar Travel can call you for a trip to a foreign country that you have never visited before, a new relationship that is ready to start (friendship or love), a totally new opportunity which knocks on your door (job, hobby, etc); or something you decided to change inside of you for the better, etc. there are so many possibilities that belong only to you.

This will be your unique and wonderful trip !

5. MOON'S SAMURAI

Be ready as life will ask you more than once to join galactic battles and will challenge you when you don't expect it. It won't always be fights on a material plane, your inner self will be often put on the test. Don't fear the upcoming obstacles that are waiting for you, embrace and face them like a warrior.

If you succeed or not with this then it's not the most important result.

If you lose the first one then you will be better prepared for the next. Don't give up, it's not a failure. See it as an acquisition of experience.

If you win the battle don't forget to stay humble, don't boast and keep the control of your emotions as other hardships could wait right after. Don't let your ego become your weakness.

Additionally you try to be the master of your emotions and think wisely before you start a fight. Examine the whole situation.

Your spirit and body will have to be one.

Always be careful that your ego is not pushing you into a useless battle. When it's hurt you might lose the control and overreact. Errors might be hard to fix after this.

You will have to fight to defend yourself or face some hardships.

Someone wants to make you fall from the stars, don't let them do it. You belong to this place and you deserve it. It might be jealousy or unwholesome competition that motivates them.

It could be that maybe you're struggling in your mind and the battle is within you.

Depression, sadness, etc.

This is a fight you only can win, and only if you wish it.

Many battles are not won alone, therefore you can ask help from other souls and it will never be seen as a failure. You also need the courage to accept that sometimes you can't do things without the support of others.

Be stolid, brave and strong like the samurai. Remember that the Moon will guide you during the war. Follow its light when you're lost.

6. ANCIENT SUN

There is something hidden in a far galaxy that keeps glowing, an old Sun that you thought was extinct but suddenly burns alive again, the light almost too much to bear...

Something from the past that has consequences on your present either in a positive or negative way. An action in your actual life time, in a previous one or something maybe that you don't even remember or don't think about.

You can struggle with your life on one or on different levels, and you don't understand what is happening or why. Troubles with your health, love, relationships, finances etc. You want to solve them, but it seems redundant. It is a repetitive action that you thought wouldn't come back.

You'll have to look back and search what happened long ago as some answers may be obvious, however others may be buried more deeply in your soul and memory.

If nothing negative troubles you, then it might be a reminder that a good action or decision from the past has had a beneficial effect on you now. There is nothing to be solved, but instead it points to how it has directed your life on this path until now and that you will need to remember in the future when time will come to take a new direction in your life.

If everything is alright now, it could also be a warning for a near future. If so then you'll have an advantage in knowing before the curtain pulls back, what it already going to happen and so you will be prepared for what may come.

7. AOI – BLUE

At a moment, you'll have to slow down and patience will be your motto. Maybe that time has arrived.

A situation with someone or something is stuck. The more you search for a solution, then the more it will be blocked.

Take a moment to stop, don't leave but take a break for a while. Keep calm, sit down and relax for a moment. Find a spot where you will feel in harmony with yourself. This place can be indoor or outdoor, in a garden, at the sea, in a house, even in your bed... or simply a place created in your mind that you can reach with meditation.

No matter if you need a few minutes or days, take the time you need. Temporalize. Clear your mind.

When you are in the middle of a situation it's hard to see what is really happening, so take a step back and look at everything from a different perspective.

Be patient as some troubles don't disappear by themselves when you decide that they have to.

A situation can unblock itself when you don't expect it, and only at the exact moment it is intended to.

If not then with your mind cleared you'll be more apt to manage the trouble and it will be easier to solve everything. The solution can be simpler than you thought, or was just in front of you.

8. THE EARTH

The Earth is an infinitesimal part of the Universe, and yet, removing it from its place would change the cosmos. A grain of sand in the machine of life and all might stop without warning. The World is in our hands, in Your hands. Be amongst those who embellish the scenery, be the Earth !

Our planet needs you, and it's time to insufflate her a new energy. All the contributions, creations and good actions you will bring are those that will help keep the balance on this planet.

Don't look for glory while you are doing it and just think of brightening this place, our home; the one that gives life to all of us.

What matters will be the way you'll help our Earth.

You can simply assist someone who needs it, smile at someone who thinks that the sun can never shine, take care of animals, respect nature and all living beings, recycle, save energy, etc.

There are so many possibilities, so act in a way that suits you the best.

Even if you can't do much, it will count for the balance of our world. Drop by drop, one day you'll create an ocean.

Also, as you have the ability to create, use this power to edify projects with cosmic purposes. Bring light to the dark, draw beautiful stars and planets in the black ebony sky. Sprinkle dazzling colours on the ashy lands.

Be the architect of wonderful sceneries.

9. PULSAR

Your energy is unique, it will differ and fluctuate depending your emotions and experiences in various moments. Its flow will change a lot during your lifetime, and it's important to always check what you are spreading around.

The energies you create influence and shape the world. Use them in a positive way to spread positive vibes. You can share them with other souls who need to find brightness in their dark moments. The good attracts the good, spread positive flow to get some in return too.

Balance is important to pulse the same positive wave.

When your axis is tilted, the energy flow is changing, starquakes are happening and then you might spread negative energies without noticing it. Then the, as you can guess, negative actions create negative energies. So never forget that what you spread will always return to you with the same intensity or even worse.

That pulsar glitch might take a while to adapt to this new position and find its equilibrium, but it's not impossible to fix. It's important to remember to keep the light around you as you don't need darkness in your surroundings.

10. INNER STAR

Look into the mirror of your soul and ask yourself, what do you see?

You are made of stars, and if you look deeper then you will discover galaxies, even whole universes made up of billions of bright lights. Each of them has a different shade, brightness, energy and colour.

They all represent your true self, every part of your soul in this lifetime but also in the previous ones. Some might seem to be extinct, however they aren't completely. They remain there, discreet as to not disrupt your actual life, and yet to not forget who you were in the past.

This symbiosis of different elements linked all together makes you what are now, they define you. If you have lost your way on the road of life, you can always begin an introspection to find answers and your true self back.

Some people might want you to change your inner core, don't let them define who you are. You are the only one who has the key to unlock access to the mirror of your soul and who can construe the whole universe within you.

11. SKY GUARDIAN

Certain beings are watching over you. Ones in which we call, imagine or can see them in infinite ways.

What matters is not how they look, who or what they are, but how it is that you feel connected to them and how they can help you. We receive their protection in different ways.

Never hesitate to ask your guardians to help your physical or psychical health, if you need advices, warnings, etc. The method you will use to send your request to them is intimate and personal, and you will have to find the way that suits you the best. Worry not for they will always listen and understand you.

On the other hand, don't expect that they will solve something in the blink of an eye without your involvement. It's mutual work. Expecting that a guardian alone can keep you safe from the machine of failure is not a good start.

Healing from something demands work on our own body and soul and being surrounded by a negative aura will nullify the positive work your guardian is trying to achieve.

Treating the body in a bad way such as bad nutrition, toxic product ingestion, etc. will poison not only the body mechanic but also your soul's energy.

When your energies are low, then your body will struggle too.

See which part needs attention first to be healed and let your guardians guide you in the process.

Never forget that you are not alone in recovery, for you must trust not only in your guardians but also in you. You can rely on them as much as needed.

12. STARSEEDS

We are surrounded by Starseeds. Do you see them? Do you recognize them ? These are souls that come from the stars and are there for a precise reason. Their conception of normality is far different than the others. Being normal is not their aspiration and they try to escape from it.

They are hard to understand and are attracted to the starry sky, empathy and intuitiveness. Constantly searching for freedom, they try to bring more positive vibes in this universe...

Starseeds just can't accept following the rules imposed by those who think that only their own are the best for all. These souls will be asked to match with society and they can do it for a certain time, but eventually their profound nature will come to the surface again in the future.

It happens when their awakening comes, when they are fed up of the negative stream, when they are threatened in a bad way through the kindness they give, and when they are simply bored of the inertia.

Starseeds are here to change the world and to bring a new and positive energy. They are reaching out to those who need it. They will give you the power of their own universe to cross the dark void. They feel the pain of others and want to relieve them of their hurt.

Some try to put them on their knees or lock them away, but they are fighters, and their soul will not give up. They have to accomplish their purpose. If they feel trapped, they will try to escape and will at the right moment. If they are hurt, used or betrayed, they will leave and close access to their cosmos forever.

Lonely souls. The Starseeds are often alone...

It's not always by choice, but sometimes it is. After being hurt more than once, they have more and more difficulties to create links with other souls. They feel they do not belong to this world.

Loneliness can be hard to manage, but it's not always a burden.

As an empath they also need to be disconnected from strong energies that come from everywhere, and detach themselves from the external world. It's a way to protect their inner light and as they give lot of their energy to help souls in need, it will be important to rejuvenate their power.

Connecting with other Starseeds is important as they will finally be able to be themselves, true to what they really feel.

In this world ruled by the physical interaction, they have a lack of psychical connexion.

Does it resonate with you ? Are you one of them or do you know one of these souls from the stars ?

13. GALAXIAN DREAM

Multitudes of galaxian dreams similar to our universe, like billions of stars sprinkled through the galaxies. An infinitely studded waves of reveries hover up there, invisible but undeniable in our unconscious.

A wonderful dream reminds you of who you are and what you really want. Don't neglect the messages that are sent during the night.

Memories, wishes, desires, projects, missions,... so many messages delivered but often ignored or forgotten.

Why not take a note of them ? Get a piece of paper, a note book, or even your phone close to you during the night and when you wake up after one of these special dreams write or record them directly. If you wait too long before transcribing them, you might forget the details.

Later when you will read these precious notes, you will be surprised with their contents. Many times you won't even remember what you've dreamt about some months ago. Until you see them again everything has been forgotten, or very nearly lost.

Some of your dreams won't be clear, at least not directly and by revisiting them after a long time, their messages might become more logical or even obvious.

Sometimes it will be hard to dive in again with some memories.

Be aware of what your mind wants to say to you. Use these travels in the unconscious universe to progress in reality.

Dreams are also a powerful source of inspiration. Don't hesitate to create something with them, like writing, drawing, photographing, singing etc.

Your mind may be locked when you are awake, and stellar travels during the night will set it free.

14. RISING SUN

Like in ancient Egypt the Sun was swallowed by the sky Goddess every night, and then given birth again every morning. This cycle is like life and death.

There will be times when you will be broken or wiped out; knees on the ground. It will happen and most probably more than once.

Just know that you have the power to rise, and rise again. No matter what or who will put you in this situation, it is not an end. Never give up. The end of a cycle is not a final destination, because sometimes you have to reach the bottom to ascend to a higher level.

Be like the phoenix that was reborn from its ashes.

You can rise from a weak experience, then shine more than ever.

The question is : « Are you ready to be set on fire to let this old weak self be reborn anew? »

The process can be painful, but then the flames won't hurt you anymore. You will become the fire, the glowing Sun and the bright Star in the night.

15. BLACK HOLE

You are trapped in this ring gravitating around a dead star. This attachment to something that doesn't suit you is dragging your energy down and absorbing it very slowly without you even realising.

Be careful as it could hide a black hole that can swallow you at any time without warning. If it happens then coming back from this vortex would be much more difficult than leaving the gravitational belt.

Something in your life is wrong, a person, a situation, a decision... This is not good for you, and you probably know it already.

Perhaps you want to escape but are afraid, too weak or simply don't know how to do it. You will need to gather all your strength to escape from this bad attraction. Breaking the bonds from something negative is not especially easy. When you are the one concerned you realise that it will require a lot more courage to part ways from this situation than what you originally thought.

If you don't feel strong enough to escape now or you still have doubts about negative effects on you then take the time you need, but stay strong. Help from other souls might be good, but they won't make the decision for you and they should only give advice or the support that you need. You will be the only one who decides to leave this dark star's gravity.

If you've drawn the card « Space Exploration », the message will be clear. The « new start » will urge you to gather the courage to leave this black hole behind.

There are so many beautiful stars in the universe, leave this one behind you.

Once you've found the way to fly far away from it, never go back there.

16. ANTI-GRAVITY

You are ready to free yourself from what has held you back for a long time. Don't be afraid as it's the right time, so dare to move forward. Release yourself now from negative attachment, as it was not good for you before and will not suits you either in the future.

Once you let go you are transported by an invisible force, drawing you up. If you deeply desire to continue this ascension, gravity will no longer drag you down. Don't let anything lock you up again.

As the gravity of the black hole has no effect on you anymore, you understand that nothing holds back to live the life you want. You are free to navigate through all these wonderful constellations.

Enjoy this new feeling, this new freedom. You are ready to go higher and ready to discover new wonders. It is possible now that your soul is unfettered by this gravity. Enjoy now the anti-gravity!

17. INTERSTELLAR HOLE

A star drifting alone in dark space with no other celestial soul to hang hope on. As hard as you try to search to cling to one of them, then equally as much it will stay away. You feel lonely.

It is surely a hard and painful time that seems to last forever... an eternity. You feel that the emptiness is taking control of you, step by step.

However the light of the Sun is not so far, and even then it's closer than you might think.

Look deep within yourself to find it. Yes it's there, inside your soul.

Being alone does not mean loneliness, don't let it become a burden and use it for yourself.

This time to be alone allows you to reconnect with yourself. It shows you that you are the only one responsible of your happiness, nobody else. This is the perfect time for an introspection and to clear your mind.

Learn to be happy with yourself before you're happy with others. You can create your own happiness, and never wait for someone to do it for you. When you will shine like a bright star, radiant energies will spread around you and will open the way for new and positive energies. Then the sky will be studded by a myriad of new stars. They will be all around you to carry you to greater joy.

18. SYNCHRONISM

This card is close to the Twin Stars, but not equal. The synchronism between these two souls is not related to their similarities or same appearance, they especially don't think the same way. They can be totally different outside and inside, but still have a strong connection that bonds them. They are like fire and air, so different, but combined their power is greater.

The difference of these souls is complementary and not opposite. They are synchronised, they support and understand each other as they accept that their own way of thinking is not the only right one. They know that they need each other to create something important, something big.

Meeting the one you can synchronise with has already happened or is yet to happen, most likely really soon. At first glance you might think that you have nothing in common, and yet with time you will feel attracted more and more, probably without understanding why.

Your differences will become your strength, the bond will become stronger with the passing of time. Then when something will finally emerge from this connection, positive energy will be created.

19. STAR CLUSTER

Paint, sing, dance, write... anything that makes you feel happy and gives you the will to create. Solidify your energy while creating and open your heart to joy.

Creativity brings positive energies to Earth, and they even extend through the whole universe. Set your imagination free, let your pen write poems in the sky, let the music notes whirl with the wind, let the colours burst from your brush and make words resonate in the vastness of space.

When inspiration is calling for you, then there's no other choice than to create. Beautiful stars will be born and you feel it.

The rising need to express your ideas becomes stronger the longer you think about them. This sparkle is special, don't push it aside or it might fade away.

Sometimes ideas may call when you have no possibility to express them, so find a way to save them somewhere for later. You may need to focus or meditate to recreate the feeling you had at that moment, and this is why it is important to express them as quickly as possible.

20. PLANETARIUM

The universe is vast, there are so many places to go, so many things to see and lots of experiences are waiting for you. Different planets are in your horizon, which one appeals you the most and which one will you visit first?

The Planetarium is gathering a wide range of planets, many places that might be more suited to you than elsewhere; and yet you still have so many choices. There is surely one that catch your attention now, so follow your instincts.

The Planetarium exposes you to the different possibilities for your work or studies or even a decision to take.

The Universe wants to let you know that you have more than one option for the actual matter. It's not black or white, you have a full palette of colours and shades in between.

Don't hesitate to put all options on the table, you will start to see and understand the complexity and diversity of each of them. Then your senses will react and direct you towards the right one. If your instinct seems to refrain you from going in one direction, don't ignore this warning.

21. CRYSTAL STAR

Find what resonates with your soul, what makes you feel free. What do you want deep inside?

Be pure, be honest towards you and others.

Return to the moment when your soul was immaculate, find the inner child who was innocent; when you were just enjoying life without worrying about what others thought about you. The Japanese words “Tenshin Ranman” express this perfectly: Innocence, artless, ingenuous.

With many years passing, life becomes more and more complicated. The baggage* you have gathered is constructing you, because over time you have to carry so much that it may become burdensome.

It is important to disconnect from that learn to enjoy life again, forget the daily stress as if it did not exist for the moment. Free yourself from this massive onus that weighs heavily on your shoulders.

Once you are set free from that burden your soul is cleared and becomes pure like crystal. You will be able to continue your ascension and create new projects imbued with your original essence.

Then you might even be able to help others, to teach them how to reach that innocent happiness.

22. HELIACAL

Once in a while the heliacal rising happens, you become the star rising before the Sun, and when the it sets, you are still there.

But... why should you appear only once in decades?

You are the light holder, be the guide for those who are lost in the darkness. You inner light is your true energy, shining always, day and night. Even in the dark you hold positive energy. Always be yourself, nobody can change your true self. Your soul will always sparkle, so don't let anybody deprive you from your original state.

Guide souls on the right path, just like the bright Stars our ancestors were following to find their way. Never drag them against their will, just reach out and let them be guided by you whenever they need to.

And someday, if you are lost, other aglow orbs are only waiting to guide you too.

23. CELESTIAL GRAVITY

We are all connected, but some have stronger bonds than others.

Don't you have the feeling that you've known someone longer than you have, but in reality you've only been talking to them for a few hours? That feeling that you perhaps have already met, but maybe not in this lifetime.

How ? When ? Many possibilities and it could be one day you will discover the answer, but this is not what matters now.

Something is, or will be, born at first sight.

A reunion after a long time, feelings have remained intact and it's just like the last time you saw them was yesterday.

Focus on this relationship. If not already there, it should arrive soon.

It can be love but also friendship. The interstellar travel you will do together is most important. Maybe it will bring you something that you were seeking for ages, or bring answers to the questions you've wondered for light years.

You are like stars sprinkled in the universe, time has kept you, but this distances does not last forever. Sometimes the attraction of galaxies is stronger and they get closer until they unite or re-unite.

All these distant stars are now together. Light years of distance become the present.

Also trust your sixth sense. It will show you the right people, but also the ones you have to avoid.

A weird or bad feeling about someone ? Keep that in mind. Usually the first impression is the right one. Don't close yourself to others, just keep careful.

24. GALAXY CORE

Be complete and in harmony with your feelings and yourself, be ONE.

When your heart is filled with love and peace, your mind will become one with your body.

Harmonize all pieces of your soul to be able to feel this in plenitude. Only you have the power to unify your being, so don't wait for someone to do it for you. Find this strength in the deepest part of yourself.

You will have to reach the galaxy core. There are different ways to do this. Meditation is one, but there are so many other ways you can experience it and it will be your own personal choice.

If you are not familiar or a sceptic with the word "meditation", don't be afraid of its image. It can be practiced in different ways. The most important is to focus on only one thing and relax.

You can simply focus on your breath, and think about nothing else. Your mind will surely wander here and there, just try to refocus on your breath every time it is needed.

On the other hand you can focus on a sound you like (rain, birds, thunder, Tibetan bowl, wind, music, etc.).

This practice is a way to control your attention and direct it where you need.

Perhaps you may not like sitting and doing nothing? Then just go outside and have a walk in the forest, don't think about anything else; focus on your walk, breathe, simply look around you. When your thoughts are not flooding your head, you will start seeing things in a different way and with more attention.

Once you've cleared your mind of any thoughts, especially the bad ones that drain your energy, you will finally appreciate life in a better.

25. COSMIC WISH

Make a wish and send it to the stars. If it is powerful enough then it will be heard beyond the borders of what you can imagine.

It has to be one dear to your heart and one for which you are ready to devote your soul and time to.

Don't wait for a shooting star to pass in the sky, make it now and don't lose this opportunity. You deserve to have your dreams realised. If your wish is really sincere then it will be granted.

Sit here, under the stars, and clear your mind. Focus on what you really want. Have a precise image of your wish and when it's substantial, open your heart to the universe and let your soul phrase it for you.

Make your inner words go as high as possible, so high that they even can even travel through other galaxies. Let them be felt through the whole cosmos.

Make that wish become cosmic !

26. ABYSS

What lies in these deep waters? What do you want to escape from?

Find what you need to solve and move forward. Don't try to bury it. Face your fears once for all.

To not know what your fears are made of is probably the most frightening. Something is lurking in the abysses, somewhere deep in your soul. Do you want to escape from it and to fly up high where the stars are free? Then it is time to identify this threat and confront it.

You'll have to face it and look in these deep waters before you try to reach the stars that glow from beautiful energies.

What do you see? Yes it is there, hidden but also very present.

When you finally give a name to your fears, you will be able to start defeating them step by step.

Ask for help if you fear facing these abysses alone. Then take some height, try out, find the strength to reach the Milky Way where you can also shine and where you can jump from one galaxy to another.

27. STELLAR

Visit planets one by one. Wanting to see them all at once is not possible, because you would not enjoy it as you had hoped.

So choose the one that appeals to you more and start with that one.

It's time to dive into your projects, and those that are dear to your heart. Immerse yourself totally in that one and leave all other distractions on the side. They are blocking your path.

Every time you want to start something, you think about everything else that you don't like and that annoys or bothers you. You know they have to be done... it keeps your mind locked.

Due to this you are no longer moving forward, and nothing is done or even close to it.

Put them aside, even for few hours, and forget about all those laborious things to do for now.

It will be easier to focus and move on to the project you really want to see materialized.

Organize your time, use an agenda to schedule your days and make free time to work on your most important project.

28. SUPERNOVA

You are a star in which the energy is contained in an Earthly body, growing step by step. You are waiting only for one thing, so let the light spray out. Allow this power to explode and extend into the cosmos, let your magnificent colours bloom and blaze; so that they can be perceived and admired through the whole universe.

Beauty can be born from this explosion, but...

Be careful with strong emotions. What explodes can come back to you, whether it be anger or love, choose wisely.

When there are negative emotions such as anger filling your soul, rising and reaching every single particle of your body, you may consume yourself.

This dark energy overruns you until you explode like a supernova, but then you will collapse into yourself and lose your light, becoming a black hole.

As much as you consume your energy, then as much as it will increase the negative intensity and attract even more darkness around you.

Be stronger and don't let it overwhelm you, breathe and empty your brain, disengage from that negative flow. It's not easy, but you must do it for the sake of your soul.

Empty your mind from the anger, jealousy, vengeance desire, etc. These resentments don't bring the power you need and will eventually block yourself from your bright purpose. Once you are far enough from all of this, you will understand how to react in a better way.

Then, in the future, you will know how to not be affected by deep dark emotions, and instead transform yourself into a supernova that enlightens the sky without collapsing.

Find that positive sparkle that will trigger the bright energy to become this wonderful star once again. Be radiant and dazzling.

29. CONSTELLATIONS

Guides... we all have them in our life. They can be so different for everyone, and their perception will be particular for each of us.

People, animals, fairies, angels, nature, dreams, retentive numbers, words or objects, some unusual phenomenon, and so on.

Our guides want to tell us something, sometimes to warn us, sometimes to keep us on the right path, or simply to remind us that they are here beside us.

You will have to be attentive to their messages and meaning as it's not always obvious and clear. The message transmitted will be intimate for each soul.

When you have some doubts with a decision, don't find the solution to a problem, etc, don't hesitate to ask your guides to help you and from that moment, be attentive.

Don't forget that you might have more than one guide.

If something catches your attention or appears often, examine the details and try to find the reason.

Someone unexpected arrived, maybe it's an opportunity to ask for some help or advice.

A dragonfly is flying around for no reason, or you feel an irresistible need to follow it...

perhaps it will bring you to a place you haven't seen before.

There are so many possibilities and your messages are unique.

30. CELESTIAL DRAGON

Ride the Celestial Dragon, cross the ocean of constellations, dive into these nebulae tinted with shimmering shades.

You are in an unknown microcosm, galloping through stellar winds. Let yourself be carried away by this nebula storm and go on an adventure in the depths of your soul by crossing across the world in reality or in your unconscious. Explore new horizons, as they will bring you magic whose you need.

Let yourself be guided by those that are able to carry you to the world you dream of. They give you their hand, what are you waiting for?

Let your inspiration flit from one planet to another to discover new ideas and motivation, and to give a new breath to your projects or life.

The universe is vast so don't stay stuck in one place. A cosmic storm is approaching, but don't ignore it, just follow its flow and look further to find the magic that you are missing to make headway. Give a new breath to your projects.

Enjoy the ride while gazing at the jewels in the sky, let the bright and beautiful colours enlighten your soul.

31. FRAGMENTATION

Step by step you are losing your energy. You have to react before all power is drained from your body and soul.

The fragmentation of your energy results in its dispersion and loss. At the beginning you might not notice it, as it's just tiny pieces that are leaving here and there.

Your mind is focused on some elements that are ruling your actual life and these are surely controlled by your ego.

Some people say somethings that you don't like or don't accept, though in fact it is your ego that doesn't accept it. You might not like a remark that sounds negative about a project you worked on as you think that it's perfect as it is... you are not ready to receive criticism, you might even overreact a bit and react immediately on the defensive. Well maybe it might be good to listen and cast your ego aside, just accept that someone also has an opinion. Keep calm and listen to this point of view until the end, Then you can think about it and decide what you will do.

If it is constructive criticism, then it can be good to think about the point or advice you receive. Perhaps it can even help you to make your project better.

If it is nonconstructive it can be a way to destabilize you, a kind of jealousy about you achieving something important, or even simply bad intentions. Your feelings might be hurt to hear negative words on your work. In that case it is important that you pass your way, don't lose your energy trying to defend yourself and don't let your ego control you.

32. SOLAR FLARE

Sunshine is a natural source of energy for your soul as it has the power to recover your vitality, both physically and psychically.

For some reason you may have lain too long inside, perhaps in the dark or you are only relying on artificial lighting. Your mood or physical condition might be affected by this lack of natural light, so it's about time to go outside and enjoy some fresh air and sun rays.

Sometimes our daily work asks us to stay in an office behind a screen, to remain in a room without windows or even requires you to take night shifts.

Or perhaps you may feel depressed and not willing to go outside? You feel too tired, nothing motivates you? It's a sign that you need to do something to get out of this loop.

No time or no motivation, is not an excuse so try it with baby steps. Nobody is asking you to lay under the sun for hours, just a bit here and there to catch what you really need.

A walk for a few minutes will allow your mind and body regeneration step by step. Even during the winter you can catch the sun beams.

If you are locked inside, simply open your window, have a cup of tea (or whatever you like to drink when you want to relax) in your garden or on a terrace, etc.

And if you have the opportunity then get some rest and take some holidays. No matter if you prefer hot or cold weather, find a way to absorb the energy of the sun.

33. DIMENSION GATE

The gate, on which the word “Yume” (Dream) is written, invites you to reach another place that is totally different than where you are right now. It may sound scary to pass through this portal to a different world, but soon you will realise there was nothing to be afraid of.

This whole universe is yours, it belongs only to you. You are the only one to understand how it works and how it is ruled. Your dreams lie there, they are only waiting for you. This is your sanctuary, just go.

This passage represents the physical world but also the psychical one. It will be one of them for you, or perhaps both. You will have to discover what so far remains undiscovered in this other dimension, what is still lying in your soul: your dreams, wishes, desires and needs.

Some of them will be found by exploring new surroundings, new landscapes and perhaps, trying a totally new life. Others will be found in your deep unconscious.

Do things that you have never done before, go to places you have never seen before, change your surroundings, or anything else that comes to your mind that might have been crazy but your dream to do.

Going to a different dimension with meditation, night dreams or any technique that will help to disconnect you with the world. Like diving into deep waters; first you can't hear any sound and can't see anything, then your senses will adapt to this new environment and you will start feeling different sensations, see and hear what you are not used to.

Physical or psychical passage, it is time to go to your own sanctuary.

34. MILKY WAYS

No destiny is fixed as it might evolve after every step you do. The possibilities are infinite and sometimes we have to try many roads before we find the one we prefer or the one that suits us better. Yet it can still change again as you evolve constantly during your course.

Many paths are drawn for you, not only one. Just choose one now and if it doesn't suit you, don't forget that you still have other possibilities waiting for you.

The evolution of your life's path will depend on your choices. Like the different roads you will take, yours has infinite passages from one to another, different entrances and exit all the way along.

It may happen more than once that others want to decide the path you have to follow. The concept of the perfect life is different for everyone. They may dream to get married, have children and a house as it is anchored in our culture as a "normal" life; it should be then logical that you follow the same path.

But... what do you really want? If you like that kind of life then follow it, if not... it's up to you. You may feel totally happy being single without kids, working in a job you love even if it means less money, aiming for totally different goals, etc and its ok. There's no need to follow a path to be like everyone else, pick up yours without comparing your life to other people's.

Some may worry their whole life before making a decision or while doing an action, wondering if it is the right one or not... and perhaps blocked by the fear of being wrong, not trying anything in the end,

So from now decide on one Milky Way to walk by, the one that appeals to you most, and later you will see if you wish to continue on the same path. You might even join another road without noticing it.

Remember that no-one has the right to decide for you, be the master of your choices and destiny.

35. STELLOGENESE

A transformation will start soon or is already in progress. This metamorphosis will give you new wings that are bigger and stronger, so you'll be ready to fly again.

The actual or recent inertia that was felt was needed for a change around or inside you, like a reboot to become a better version of yourself.

All the energy you have gathered during your inactive period will help you to make this stellogenese happen. Use it to become a new you, the star you really want to be and regain confidence in yourself to create greater things.

If it's around you: a change may be amongst your friends or relationships; opt for a totally different work; change your location, or even find a new hobby, etc.

If it's inside you: improve your emotional state, your perception, your motivation or simply change your health habits (food, drink, exercise, etc.).

An evolution is happening or will happen only because you are ready for it, or desire it. So embrace this change, this rebirth into something new and different. Become a bright star that shines stronger than ever.

36. TWIN STARS

Twin stars will always find a way to reach each other. Living in a different universe, even different dimensions, will never be an obstacle. There is a powerful and calming bond between them, a special connection between their souls.

What connects them is specific to only them, a kind of love that might be different for other souls. Love and friendship, it will be particular for every pair and often can't be explained with words.

Twin souls might look different on the outside but inside they are like twin flames. Their vision of the universe is the same, no matter their origin, culture, appearance or look.

A long distance relationship is then not a problem as the souls are always connected and the twin stars will be able to manage this easier than any other living beings.

Their hearts are pure, feelings sincere, thoughts honest, their love is special and the trust between them is strong.

When you find your twin soul you will finally be able to share your thoughts with this person without boundaries. In this relation harmony, positiveness and joy will take the place of jealousy, worry and anger. You can finally be you, as twin stars understand each other perfectly.

37. FULL MOON

A big project has started or will start very shortly. This one is really important for you and your future. It might change your life in a consequential way or make it switch to a totally different direction than what you were originally expecting.

Don't let this huge project overwhelm you. You don't have to carry this colossal Moon all by yourself, especially if you don't feel strong enough to carry it all alone. You shouldn't be afraid to ask help around you, some kind souls are only waiting for a sign from you. They know that you usually want to achieve projects by yourself and sometimes prefer to work completely alone, so they won't propose anything until you ask for assistance, guidance or advice.

If you prefer to not get any help then make sure that you are well organised. A messy schedule, procrastination, disassembled work or lack of motivation will make your time harder to achieve such a big work. Stay focused on what has to be done and in the right order. Try to get a regular rhythm to be able to work on this everyday. A task board might be really useful to get organised.

You have the power to carry this big Full Moon high in the sky. Gather your strength and courage and you will bring the project to a successful outcome.

38. PLANET'S BIRTH

A new planet has been born! Your hard work achieved now brings you to a successful development. It's time to harvest what you have sowed.

Something positive emerges from your stiff labour. The fruit of your patience, arduous work, good energies and wise actions will equal wealth, growth and success.

This new planet represents wealth on material, emotional or physical levels. It can simply be cash inflow, new property, important item acquisition; or also gaining new skills, original ideas, different apprenticeship, a court trial that finally has a positive issue or even a new contract. Perhaps you can completely get over a cycle of hard time (depression, sadness, illness, loneliness, etc.) and reach the happiness that you were aiming for, or is it the birth of a new life?

Good actions always result in good reactions. You are rewarded in abundance. And perhaps, more will even come...

39. BLUE PLANET

A previous success has now opened new doors, so time has come to avoid taking breaks and instead continue on this path. Don't rest on your laurels or you might miss the next opportunity that has been created only for you right now.

Use your wings to fly to the next level as another successful project might arrive. If you stay on course then it may even arrive faster than the previous one. Keep opening doors as long as you can, and wish. It all depends on the actions you take now.

The Blue Planet represents the next level for you to reach, it's right there in front of you. You need to provide a bit more effort, don't waste your energy and stay focused on this path. Balance, serenity and wise actions are important points to concentrate on if you want to achieve what you want.

With a peaceful mind you will now be able to open doors to access infinite possibilities in the future. Luck, new ideas, and success are all waiting for you.

40. SILENT NIGHT

Sometimes we are waiting for someone or something for so long that we can miss another opportunity, so is it worth it to stay?

Standing there, waiting or contemplating emptiness is not a solution. You are afraid to leave a situation or someone because you are still hoping for something in return. What is it? Love, attention, reward,...?

Sometimes it's important to take the road again.

You can see in the sky that there is something further waiting for you, but you have to leave your current position to reach it. What keeps you rooted? Do you fear leaving the ground that you know so well? Someone is asking you to wait without any guarantee that he/she will be there for you in the future? Some promises made but that were never kept?

Perhaps something better will happen if you leave all of this behind you. No one has the answer for you, only you can decide to leave and discover what is next. If standing there is not bringing anything so far, then maybe it's time to make a decision that will be only for you.

41. SHOOTING STAR

A brief flash brightens the night sky, a unique event which lasts only a moment. It is momentary but engraved in our memory, an apparition crossing through a static and dark scenery.

Some souls on Earth are like these shooting stars. They appear in our life at a certain time, enlightening our path which too dark to walk alone. Then without a trace they disappear as fast as they showed up.

When their role has been accomplished they have to leave, the time has come for us to continue on our way. Don't try to hold them back, just let them go.

You might feel sad, angry, forsaken or even betrayed to be suddenly kept outside of their life, but you shouldn't. These souls were here for one purpose and there is no reason to have negative feelings when they depart.

Trying to hold these shooting stars back is like locking them away, and they will feel stuck or even feel that they are a prisoner.

Their light will slowly fade away until either they are completely extinguished or they explode without warning and leave everything behind. Sometimes it causes chaos.

If you've been able to cross the way of these special souls then you may understand now why they left at a certain point of your life, sometimes even without a word or looking back.

Or simply you are a shooting star...

If you are one of them, then be strong and don't let others use you. You sometimes need to cut loose the ropes that tie you to a place you don't belong to anymore. Your happiness is as important as another's.

If the souls you have helped are honest and fair, they will thank you and treat you well.

If not then don't expect a thank you or any good behaviour after your departure. Your goal is not to collect rewards but help those who really need it.

Just be careful to not be used, and have the strength to decline further demands of help if the souls you are helping seem not to show any will to regain control of their own destiny. Don't feel any guilt for leaving and stay stoic as other souls are waiting for you.

Don't forget that there is not only one shooting star that appears in a single life time...

42. RED MOON

Light cannot be perceived, but it doesn't mean that it gives its place to the darkness. The eclipse announces a big change, another important step and something that will profoundly change your life.

It's only when you are in the shadow that you can see the bright side of life, to understand that you need the stars to guide you and illuminate your road.

Numerous prophecies have been made when the moon was in shadow or turned another colour. Don't see this phenomena in a negative way, as it is announcing something important and deep down, you know that the sun is always coming back after the night.

This eclipse is yours and your moment, your own dark night is happening now to regain hope.

You can also create this moonless night. Just close your eyes and let the emptiness fill your soul, it has to be completely black, so you must think about nothing. Stay alone in the dark for a moment with your soul and be attentive to what it wants to tell or show you. Then let your mind wander amongst images, sounds or scents and just let them come to you. Step by step focus on only one of them. It's important to listen to yourself, to understand why these feelings, images, scents or sounds are coming to you now. Don't neglect the details.

Think about the changes you want to happen, which major step will have to be taken to obtain a bright future.

43. COSMOS

Your thoughts are different and from now on you will start to see the world in a different way. You are more awake, your senses are stronger, you are feeling what surrounds you with more attention.

What you were finding logical in the past is not the same anymore and what you didn't understand before, now becomes clearer. Some things will look more important than others and you will leave the non-essential aside.

The sky present in your daily life was there but you didn't really see it. Now that you do, it seems impressive, fascinating and marvelous. A simple element of nature that nobody sees anymore catches all of your attention. The colours, light reflection, movement, shape, etc., everything becomes more important.

Your soul is open to a totally new perception and your vision is different. You have opened a new gate. The gate that gives access to something that can't be seen, the one that makes you understand life, elements and the universe.

You can feel the greatness of the whole universe with your eyes wide open...
From now on you can reach the cosmos.

44. SUNSET

The sunset is the feeling you get when you've accomplished big tasks and you can finally take a break, and take a deep breath. Staring at the Sun's warm and comforting colours reminds you that you can also just sit and relax

It's time to focus on what makes you happy, you deserve it.
Don't search for complex ideas, because sometimes the most simple can be the one that you will enjoy the most. Simple things in life can be more important than you originally thought.

Now, here, what can bring you joy ?

Think about something pleasant.

You feel good, you are happy...

What is it?

Spending time with the loved ones, your pet or with yourself; create art, travel, cook, helping others, walking or just sitting outside watching the sunset.

The future is not important right now, only the present moment matters.
